PROJECTS

29/08/2022 – CURRENT

Forest Cleanup and Awareness

After gathering a group of friends and colleagues from my school, we have decided to regularly visit Andronache Forest in Bucharest in order to collect the waste in the area and correctly dispose of it in order to maintain a clean environment in one of the region's few green areas. Furthermore, we have been raising awareness of the issue using bio-degradable posters and leaflets in the region.

● HOBBIES AND INTERESTS

Sailing

I find sailing highly relaxing, as well as entertaining. Pre-pandemic, I would often travel across the country to the seaside in one or two week long sessions with a group of friends and a supervisor or two.

Playing the drums

As part of my artistic and creative expression, I have been practicing playing the drums since 2015 and have recorded a few drum covers, as well as being in the school band for two years and performing a drum solo on stage at the school talent show.

● CREATIVE WORKS

09/2025 – CURRENT

Horror Visual Novel Demo

Currently working on a horror underwater visual novel with audio focus with a group of classmates, as a passion project alongside out client projects at the Breda University of Applied Sciences

01/2024 – 06/2024

Johan Van Der Bond

For a college project, I filmed and edited a short comedy film called Johan Van Der Bond. The team I worked with was responsible for the entire organization, which I witnessed, including sourcing actors and filming equipment.

An Eye for AI Magazine

For a university project, I worked on the visuals of a magazine named An Eye for AI. I was mainly responsible for the advertisements for VPN and AI Coca Cola, but also some of the basic visual assets such as visuals in backgrounds. Link available below

● MANAGEMENT AND LEADERSHIP SKILLS

Time Management

I have gathered efficient time management skills as a result of my large number of hobbies and extra-curricular activities, resulting in my ability to effectively distribute tasks.

Team Leader

During my time at the game design course in London, I had the opportunity to work with several amazing people in a team. Unfortunately, while they proved to be effective game designers with a wide range of skills, they possessed low social skills and appeared to be shy. As such, I took the initiative and developed my team leadership skills by helping organize the group while ensuring to consider feedback or advice received from them, eventually leading to our project being nominated for the game most people wanted to play.

● COMMUNICATION AND INTERPERSONAL SKILLS

Communication

I am able to express ideas in a clear way in order for others to understand, as well as understanding other people's ideas and working collaboratively to ensure each participant to the conversation understands.

Active Listening

I listen carefully making full use of my attention without being distracted by personal or external factors, withholding judgement and being able to paraphrase to ensure I have understood and listened to the conversation.

Empathy

I can relate to the emotions of others, considering their situation and adapting my behavior as so to avoid provoking negative emotions within them.

Positive Attitude

Almost to a fault, I seek the good in people and situations with a mindset prepared to interact with difficult people as well as overcome tough situations, exercising patience and identifying lessons in order to learn from my personal mistakes as well as the mistakes of those around me and avoiding repeating them in the future.

Problem Solving

Instead of complaining of a difficult situation or challenge, I focus on finding solutions to the problem at hand, tackling these obstacles with determination to resolve the issue instead of dwelling on it. Once the problem is resolved, I identify the root cause and attempt to prevent a repetition of the issue.

Flexibility

I am able to adapt and embrace change while avoiding stressful situations. I accept the fact that certain situations are out of my control and I adjust my attitude and plan accordingly in order to overcome the challenge.
